

Public Notice

April 8, 2009

With unemployment on the rise the owners of All About Learning Child Care centers have decided to break all the rules and offer FREE Child Care for those families that have lost their jobs due to this economy.

As business owners, for the first time in 17 years of being in business, we are seeing substantial enrollment drops at many of our locations. This is due to families being laid off and jobs ending. This is detrimental to everyone. These families cannot afford to pay for childcare. We as owners of All About Learning want to help.

We are offering free child care for these families to allow them the time to do their job hunting and attend interviews. We are making the process fairly simple. Basically, if there is extra space in our centers, we will take children free, for a limited time period. No strings attached! We are confident that you will find that you and your child enjoy our facilities and program so much that when you do get that great job you will consider us for providing more permanent care for your child. It is a great way to check us out a head of time and help you and your family when times are tough.

All About Learning wants to help get the economy back on track in the way we know best! Spread the word, we are here to help without out any down payments or contracts! You can relax and put all of your effort into finding that perfect position.

For information on our locations see our web site at www.aalchildcare.com and click on the locations link. Otherwise call our main office at 262-790-9496; they will direct you to the center that is most convenient to you.

Sincerely,

Corinne Thiesen and Tracy Aslin
